Five New Buildings Are Scheduled

Newcomers On Faculty Total 15

Several Departments Involved In Shifts

Fifteen new faculty and staff members will come to the campus this fall to fill vacancies caused by resignations and to augment the teaching force in some departments.

Already announced to the student body last spring is Dr. Herschel C. Litherland, superintendent of Allen County schools, who will become director of student teaching and supervisor of elementary education here. He replaces Dr. B. L. Pierce who joins the faculty of the college of business administration.

New Dean Comes

Miss Audrey Kenyon Wilder is the new dean of women, replacing Dean A. Wrey Warner who resigned in June following her marriage in May. Miss Wilder has been dean of women at Ohio Northern University for 12 years. She has degrees from Albion College and Columbia University.

Miss Gertrude Eppler, who was appointed last spring to direct the women's division of the department of physical education, will come from Michigan State Normal College to begin her duties here next week.

Cadwallader Leaves

To fill the vacancy in the department of accounting caused by the resignation of Prof. J. M. Cadwallader, Norman R. Eggiman, Decatur, Ill., has been employed. Mr. Cadwallader accepted a similar position at Fresno State College in California.

Additions to the distributive education staff in the department of business education will be Mrs. Mary Powers, of Shaker Heights, and Mrs. Florence L. Harris, now co-ordinator of restaurant training in the State Department of Education. Mrs. Marguerite Carpenter of the business education department has resigned to accept a teaching position in Hawaii, and her place will be filled by Miss Freda Bruns, Marshalltown, Ia.

New Art Instructor

Miss Lucille Wilkinson, new on the fine arts faculty, has been conducting a private art school in Washington, D. C., for the past two years. She has degrees from Northwestern and Columbia Universities and has studied abroad.

Several changes will occur in the music faculty. Prof. M. C. McEwen will assume headship of the department, replacing Prof. R. M. Tunncliffe who retired last June. Prof. James Paul Kennedy, on leave for study for the past year, returns to the department. His place was filled last year by Miss Lois Collins. Miss Lorlie Virginia Kerahner, who has her

Three Departments Share Majority of New Courses

Most of the new courses offered this year are in three departments—distributive education, journalism and speech.

Three hours' credit will be given for completion of the Civilian Pilots Training Program, which has been offered the last two years.

Defense training classes, under supervision of the State Department of Education, will be offered in machine shop, welding and related courses according to student demand. No college credit will be given for such work.

Liberal arts students may, for the first time this year, take a major in political science.

Freshmen in education are to take Speech 110 the second semester instead of English 102. Also new for freshmen in secondary education is Education 102.

New courses in distributive education, which teaches merchandising, are Nos. 460, 461, 462 and 464 under business education.

The Journalism Department, new this year, will offer courses in news writing and reporting, copyreading, news editing, special types of news writing, feature writing, pictorial reporting and editing, photographic technique, press management, history of journalism and special problems.

Cabin Aid Defense

A number of students will have more than usual interest in the new union building. Summer defense classes used the building for a laboratory and had a hand in many of the early operations.

The Speech Department has three new courses on radio—Nos. 108, 210 and 308.

To Speak First

DR. FRANK J. PROUT

Prexy Is Followed By British Consul

Dr. Frank J. Prout, president of Bowling Green State University, will address the first student assembly Sept. 24.

Cyril H. Cane, British consul at Detroit, will discuss "Great Britain Today" at the next program, which will be Oct. 1.

Scheduled later this fall is Alfred Noyes, British poet.

Assemblies are to be held Wednesday, with most of the programs in the morning, according to Prof. John Schwarz, chairman of the student-faculty Entertainment and Assembly Committee.

Student Total Almost Intact

Enrollment Spurts At Last Minute

A last-minute upswing is expected to bring to Bowling Green State University a 1941-42 enrollment about the same as last year's total of 1600.

Many Ohio colleges are preparing for the draft and defense employment to trim their enrollment 10 per cent.

However, the draft temporarily will retard Bowling Green's spectacular growth—which skyrocketed from 1123 in 1937 to 1600 in 1940.

"We are fortunate in that we had 30 more men than women students last year," Dr. Frank J. Prout, university president, asserted.

Registrar John W. Bunn reported applications soaring in elementary education, business administration and pre-nursing and declining in music and men's physical education.

Though students in pre-engineering and pre-medicine often are exempt from the draft, registration in such courses has shown no increase.

Offices Moved

Dr. Herschel Litherland, director of student teaching, will occupy Jesse Currier's old office on the second floor in the University Training School building.

Offices of three other faculty members in education—Dr. William C. Hoppes, Prof. Charles F. Rees and Dr. H. C. Witherington—will be moved from rooms 306 and 308 in the Administration Building to the north corridor of the third floor of the Training School building.

Work Starts On Hospital To Hold 40

Falcon's Nest Built Of Logs

Students returning to Bowling Green State University in mid-September will find a building program in full swing.

They will watch work on the $85,000, 40-bed Johnston Health Service Building.

They will see the final touches on the student union building, nicknamed the Falcon's Nest in a campus election last year.

They will witness the "moving" into Skol Sorority House.

They will observe earth being turned for the Seven Sister and Three Kay sorority houses, bids on the construction of which are to be opened Sept. 8.

Johnson Honored

A huge digger swung into action Sept. 2 at the site of the H. J. Johnston Health Service Building, named in honor of the Tontogany physician who is secretary of the university board of trustees and who has served continuously on the board since 1921 with the exception of the period 1935-39.

The four-story colonial structure, 72 feet long and 40 feet wide, is expected to be completed in January by the Clarence L. Knowlton Construction Co. of Bowling Green which also is erecting the Skol house and the union building.

Colonial Design

All five buildings are colonial in design except the union building, which from the outside will have the appearance of a log cabin.

The new buildings are at the northwest side of the campus. The Skol House, which has rooms for 58 women, is similar in size and design to the Five Sister Sorority House, which is just south of it. The Seven Sister House is to be near Shatzel Hall and the Three Kay House is to be between Five Sister and Skol. Both the houses for Seven Sister and Three Kay are to accommodate 22 sorority women each.

Skols Assigned

Women to live in the Skol House are to have temporary quarters in the Women's Building until Oct. 1, when the sorority house is scheduled to be open. Room assignments have been mailed.

Paneling Rare

The chestnut paneling used in the interior of the union building soon will be classed as a museum rarity. Due to the scarcity of chestnut wood caused by diseases which have ravaged chestnut trees the wood is rapidly going off the market.

Dean's List Extended To Sophomore Class

Extension of the Dean's List to sophomores as well as juniors and seniors was announced during the summer in a letter to students with an average of 3 points (B) or better for the second semester of last year.

Dean Arch B. Conklin enclosed with the letters cards permitting those on the Dean's List to have access to the library stack room. This is a new privilege.

The 206 students on the Dean's List are exempt from the attendance regulation, which will remain the same.

Of his list, Dean Conklin said, "Favorable results have been evident in the year the plan has been in operation."

103 Degrees Are Granted

About 700 Attend Summer School

A successful summer term closed on Aug. 8 with commencement exercises for 103 graduates. The enrollment of approximately 700 was somewhat lower than that for the previous year. This drop in summer enrollment was attributed both to increased industrial activity and to the gradual reduction from year to year of the number of two-year diploma graduates who return for additional work.

A well-attended social program was planned by the social committee under direction of chairman John Bronson. Students and faculty enjoyed several square dance parties supervised by Harry Horton, local N. Y. A. recreation director. An all campus picnic, bridge tournament, and bingo party were part of the summer social program.

Dr. Williams Increases Number of N. Y. A. Jobs

The number of student N. Y. A. jobs has been increased slightly by Dr. Homer B. Williams, president emeritus, who is in charge of the government program on the campus.

More than 160 students have been chosen for the jobs. About 100 of them are upperclassmen, the remainder freshmen.

Last year 157 students earned a total of $17,145 from the N. Y. A. Reports indicate that Bowling Green students earned $63,000 last year off and on the campus.

"Though the Federal Government has reduced the amount of money we and other colleges will receive for N. Y. A. work this year, we'll have fewer students getting $15 a month for 50 hours' work and more students getting the minimum of $10 for a corresponding number of hours," Dr. Williams declared.

"We take a large number of upperclassmen because we know better their needs and their abilities. Freshman applications for N. Y. A. work this year weren't so numerous as they were last year."

A standard point average of 2.4 is the minimum for upperclassmen with N. Y. A. work.

Dr. Williams said upperclassmen are chosen on a basis of academic work and need, while factors taken into consideration on freshmen are the high school record, rank in the graduating class, the family's financial resources and the number of children in the family.

All N. Y. A. jobs have been filled for the year, Dr. Williams remarked.

Fire Squelches Parrot Chatter

The last charred bricks from the Parrot restaurant building are being trucked away and by the time students return to the campus that popular student meeting place will be a bare lot.

The Parrot burned in a spectacular three-alarm fire in the night of Aug. 3 near the close of the summer session. Being Sunday, most students had joined the suitcase parade for the week-end and they returned Monday to find the Parrot a charred mass of rubble with only the brick walls standing.

After closing late Saturday night Proprietor Mike Johnson had started on a fishing trip and before he could be summoned and return to Bowling Green the building was practically destroyed. Local firemen succeeded in saving surrounding homes.

It was first reported that the restaurant would be rebuilt on the same location but definite plans have not been announced by Johnson.

Dormitory Lawns Get Beauty Treatment

Landscaping of "dormitory row" has begun and will be completed in time to benefit by the fall rainy season. The plantings will be unified for the two buildings now completed and will provide for the addition of the future units.

Dean of Women to Come From Ohio Northern

Miss Audrey Kenyon Wilder, dean of women at Ohio Northern university for the past 12 years, has been selected to fill a similar position at Bowling Green State University made vacant by the resignation of Dean A. Wrey Warner.

Dean Wilder holds degrees from Albion college and Columbia university and has done additional graduate study at Chicago university, Oxford university, England, the Breadloaf School of English, Middlebury college, Vermont, and William and Mary college.

She taught for one year in the Illinois public schools and for seven years before going to

Office Expanded

Harry Ockerman, director of athletics and physical education, has had his office expanded to the third floor of the Men's Physical Education building. When the Student Health Center is completed, he will move to the second floor in the rooms now occupied by the university physician.

Ohio Northern was a member of the English faculty at Albion college. She also has had newspaper experience.

A past member of the executive committee of the Ohio Association of Deans of Women, Dean Wilder at present is a member of the Editorial Board of that association. She is a member of the National Association of Deans of Women, the American Association of University Women, the P. E. O. Sisterhood, and the D. A. R. She is a Presbyterian.

Miss Wilder is active in the national organization of Delta Gamma sorority and is chairman of the sorority's national fellowship fund. She has traveled in England, France, and Mexico, and extensively in this country.

Miss Warner, who became dean at Bowling Green last year following three years on the university's physical education staff, resigned at the close of the second semester following her marriage in May to Mr. Robert Berber, member of the faculty of Perrysburg high school.

Three Faculty Members Build During Summer

Many changes have been made in faculty living arrangements during summer months and returning students will find the faculty address section in the new directory considerably altered.

Three new faculty homes have been or shortly will be completed. Miss Carolyn Shaw, member of the women's physical education faculty, has moved into her new home on University Lane. Dr. W. E. Steidtmann of the biology department soon will occupy his home which is nearing completion on a nearby site in University Court. Registrar John Bunn's new home on Sand Ridge Road will be completed in October.

Athletic director Harry Ockerman has moved into his suburban home on Route 6 just east of the campus. The house was remodeled during the summer.

Prof. Elden T. Smith of the speech faculty has moved from North Maple Street to 605 East Ridge Street, just across from the campus, and Jesse J. Currier of the journalism faculty, who lived at 211 North Prospect, has moved north on the same street to 320.

Miss Grace Wills, head of the art department, and Miss Grace Durrin, department of English, will live together in a house belonging to Dr. Walter Zaugg which is adjacent to his home on Troupe Avenue. It was completely remodeled this summer.

Miss Emilie Hartman of the women's physical education staff will have the apartment at 304 Liberty Street formerly occupied by Prof. J. M. Cadwallader. Miss Hartman has resided at 415 North Main. Business manager E. J. Kreischer is occupying a newly remodeled home at 159 South Church Street. He moved from 134 South Church.

Several of those joining the faculty this year already have located. Miss Audrey Wilder, new dean of women, will live at the B. H. Urschel home on Troupe Avenue. Paul W. Jones, new addition to the department of journalism and director of the news bureau, is living in an apartment in Miss Shaw's new home.

Mrs. Mary Powers, new member of the business education faculty, will occupy Urschel Apartment No. 4, and the new member of the music staff, Miss Lorie Virginia Kershner, will live at 215 North Prospect Street.

Dr. Herschel Litherland has moved into the Urschel Apartment vacated by Professor Steidtmann.

Handbook Sent To Freshmen

Completely revised and appearing with an illustrated cover, the Freshman Handbook was distributed this week from Dean Conklin's office to all freshmen and new students who had pre-registered.

Richard Dunipace edited the book this year which appears in new type dress, with several illustrations. The handbook was made an official university publication last June under supervision of the Board of Publications.

Good Grid Team Looms

IN COACHING SHIFT

Bob Whittaker (right) will be head football coach this fall to succeed Harry Ockerman (left), who has been elevated to athletic director after six years in charge of the gridders.

Squad Faces Tough Slate

Whittaker Calls 44 Candidates

With a new coach, the varsity football team should have a "good" season despite the toughest schedule in Falcon history and a team composed largely of sophomores.

Handling the squad will be Bob Whittaker, who joined the Bowling Green athletic department last winter after 11 years as football coach at Sandusky High School, where his teams won 88 out of the 110 games they played.

Coach Whittaker directed spring practice here and has spent a large part of the summer in his 28-foot L-class sloop on Lake Erie, where in 1940 he was a winner in the Put-in-Bay Regatta.

The coach, who is married and has two daughters, is a graduate of Miami University. There he played halfback on the football team with Paul Brown, new Ohio State coach.

"Paul and I use about the same shift. He goes from the single wing to the balanced line, while mine goes the other way," Whittaker remarked.

The blue-eyed, brown-haired coach succeeds Harry Ockerman, who was elevated to direct intercollegiate athletics and the Department of Physical Education. Ockerman had coached the Falcons for six years.

Whittaker's aides include M. Budd Cox, assistant football coach; Fred Marsh, freshman football coach; Joe Glander, trainer, and Harry Beare, senior manager.

While the head coach is making no predictions on the outcome this fall, others "in the know" look for the Falcons to do much better than a year ago, when they won three, lost four and tied one.

Most of the 44 candidates invited to report for the first practice Sept. 10 are expected to be present.

To date the draft has taken no football man eligible to play this fall. However, defense employment will keep at least three gridders—Amos, Anders and Usak.

Football practices will be twice a day until classes start, then once a day until the first game, Sept. 27 with Wooster here.

Sophs To Rule

Student Council freshman rules will go into effect Sept. 17 when frosh caps will make their appearance. Duration of the initiation period will be determined by the outcome of the annual tug-of-war scheduled for Friday, Oct. 3. A freshman win will permit burning of the distinctive head gear that night at the football rally. If sophomores win the rules will be enforced for an additional week.

Included in the student enforced rules imposed on first year students are a ban on use of the diagonal walk west of the library, ability to sing the school songs on demand, and the requirement that freshmen tip hats to upperclassmen.

Men, Women To Go In Own Sections

All freshmen are required during the first semester to take a non-credit course in Orientation, which meets once a week.

Dean Arch B. Conklin has charge of the course, which is divided into several sections to permit discussion in addition to the lectures on problems of personality development and personal adjustment to college environment.

Men and women students meet in separate sections in Orientation.

Dean Conklin is a former superintendent of Bowling Green schools.

Faculty Changes

master's degree from Columbia, is an addition to the music staff and will teach violin and ensemble classes.

Paul W. Jones, state editor of the Columbus Citizen for the last five years, joins the faculty of the newly organized department of journalism. In addition to teaching journalism classes Jones will direct the university news bureau. He is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University.

Jesse J. Currier, who was director of the news bureau and instructor of journalism last year during the absence of Duncan Scott, who was on leave, becomes the head of the journalism department. Mr. Scott resigned this summer to accept a position at the Texas School of Mines at El Paso.

Following the resignation of Mrs. Upton Palmer, who taught last year in the department of home economics, Mrs. Bertha K. Robertson, a Bowling Green alumnus and resident of Bowling Green, was employed to fill the vacancy.

Miss Jane Ann Bovie, former dietitian at the Gallipolis State Hospital, will work in the university nursery school and instruct classes in child development. She is a graduate of Ohio State University. Miss Bovie will fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Miss Martha Comstock who was married at the end of the first semester last year.

Miss Mae A. Tindall comes from Northwestern University to join the critic staff at the training school. From this staff both Miss Marian Wirtz and Miss Lou Leonard have resigned to be married. Miss Lena Mills, sixth grade critic at the training school, will go to Ridge Street school in a similar position.

Other additions to the Ridge Street critic staff include Mrs. Grace Bell, who will transfer from the South Main Street school to teach the first grade, and Miss Gwendolyn Beck, Colorado State College of Education, who will teach the second grade.

To fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Kenneth Cameron, university librarian, Dr. F. C. Ogg, chairman of the library committee, will supervise the library for the current year. Mr. Cameron will do graduate study.

Prof. C. J. Poling, department of history, has resigned,

DIGGER, CARPENTERS BUSY AT UNIVERSITY

Logs are being placed at the side of the student union building, nicknamed Falcon's Nest in a student election.

School Cast In Play

Smith Directs Three Act Comedy

The second successful summer Speech School was conducted this year by Prof. Elden T. Smith. Closing event of the term was the three act comedy "The Charm School" presented by high school students enrolled for the speech short course.

Before the early semester festive spirit wears off the student body will have the opportunity of enjoying an old fashioned Fall Festival sponsored by the Bowling Green Chamber of Commerce. The street fair and agricultural show will be held October 8, 9, 10.

Draft Official Urges College

College men expecting to be drafted should return to the campus unless induction is imminent, according to Ohio draft headquarters.

"The policy of the selective service system is to be as lenient as possible within the law in cases of young men who are earnestly pursuing educational opportunities," Lt. Col. C. W. Goble, state selective service director, asserted.

"I advise these young men to consult with their local boards and find out when they probably will be called. If the possibility is more remote than a month or so, the men may begin their studies with the understanding that they can complete at least a semester."

and is pursuing work on his doctorate.

Dr. Orland Ritchie of the English faculty has accepted a position as dean of Huron college, Huron, South Dakota.

Herbert Zuhrt, who filled a one year appointment as instructor in chemistry here last year, is continuing graduate study.

John W. Bunn begins his first year as university registrar following the retirement last June of Registrar Claude D. Perry. The new assistant in the registrar's office is F. E. Beatty of Bowling Green.

Howard King Bailey, of Findlay, has been appointed graduate assistant in biology, and he and Mrs. Bailey will supervise Kohl Hall dormitory. Miss Gwendolyn Beck will be house mother at the new Skol house. Successor to Miss Collins as faculty resident at the Five Sister cottage has not been announced.

Deferred Rushing Continued By Fraternities, Sororities

With four fraternities and seven sororities, freshmen sometimes are bewildered by "rushing" on the campus. Following are some excerpts from the fraternity and sorority regulations that may help:

SORORITIES:

1. Only those girls having one semester's residence credit are eligible for group rushing.

2. Individual rushing may be done any time except formal rush week and silent period.

3. Group rushing may be done any time during the first four weeks of each semester.

4. Formal rush week is the fifth week of each semester.

5. Rushes will meet in the auditorium at 4 p. m. Monday of the fifth week to receive instruction concerning rushing and signing of preference slips.

FRATERNITIES:

1. Any male student who has completed one semester's work (12 hours) is eligible for pledgeship if he has a minimum average of "C" for the preceding semester or an all-time average of "C".

2. Fraternities offer bids between Monday and Friday of the third week of a semester.

Nearly All Are Placed

Education Graduates Find Jobs Easily

Nearly all students graduated in education this summer from Bowling Green State University have been placed.

A survey made late in August by the Bureau of Appointments showed more than 92 per cent located. Only 21 of the 143 graduated in June and the 84 graduated in August informed Dr. Walter A. Zaugg, director of the bureau, that they were unemployed.

Of the others, 181 have work in the field of preparation, 8 are otherwise employed, 3 are in graduate schools, 6 are married or not interested in placement and 8 are in the army.

At a corresponding period a year ago, only 82 per cent were employed.

Figures are not available on 1941 graduates in liberal arts and business administration.

Paul W. Jones Joins Faculty of New Department

Paul W. Jones, for the past five years state editor of the Columbus Citizen, will become instructor in journalism in the newly created department of journalism, only new department to be added this year. Mr. Jones will be in charge of the university News Bureau in addition to his teaching duties.

Jesse J. Currier will head the new department which will include ten new courses with a minor in the subject. The courses have been arranged so that a minor in journalism may be combined with a major in practically any other subject.

Courses to appeal to a variety of interests are included in the journalism curriculum. Objectives of the new department are to give fundamental training for professional newspaper work, especially in the small paper field; to train teachers for the teaching of journalism in high school or the supervision of high school publications; and to offer training for members of the staffs of the university publications.

Mr. Jones is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University where he was active as a student journalist. He did police reporting for a short time for the Citizen before becoming state editor. He is a native of Washington C. H.

Mr. Currier and Mr. Jones, the journalism instructors, and W. C. Jordan, director of the Extension Service, will be in room 211 in the Administration building.

Dr. B. L. Pierce, who was in that room with Mr. Jordan last year, will be with Prof. John Schwarz in the room occupied last year by the former Miss A. Wrey Warner, dean of women.

The new dean of women, Miss Audrey Wilder, will be in room 218 in the Administration building—near Dean Conklin's office.

Machinery Installed

Quite an outlay of valuable shop machinery was installed in the practical arts department during summer months for the special defense classes held during the summer term and to be repeated this fall. Prof. E. C. Powell supervised the courses, assisted by LaMarr Knecht.

Editors Prepare For News, Key

Student editors are busy these days getting final plans in shape for the Bee Gee News and the Key for the coming year. A number of new features will be noted in the Bee Gee News, according to editor Richard Dunipace, and Francis Ruth, Key editor, is planning what he hopes will be the best book in Key history.

New offices will be occupied by each publication. The Bee Gee News will be located in the office room at the north end of the administration building second floor corridor, formerly occupied by education department offices. The Key office will be at the other end of the same corridor in the former history department office.

With the addition of another member to the journalism department staff, each publication will have a separate supervisor. Mr. Paul W. Jones, former state editor of the Columbus Citizen, will be the News adviser, and Jesse J. Currier will again be adviser to the Key. Mr. Currier was faculty supervisor of both publications last year.

Students interested in trying out for staff positions on either publications should watch the corridor bulletin boards during registration days for tryout dates. Any student is eligible for either the editorial, business, or art departments of either publication.
